Hey Travis,

So, I am still trying to get a clear picture of what PRA wants to do with this matter and the others that are in lockstep with it (Seymour, etc.). We have a Rule 26(f) plan due in this one today and I think we're a few days late on the plan in Seymour, so I think we should get those drafted up and filed and get mediations or ENEs on the schedule, just to avoid pissing off our judges. What are your thoughts?

LAuren,

I sent the drafts for Seymour, Ill get on Sofaly right now.

Are you okay with Sally Cimini?

And do you prefer ENE or Mediation?

Thanks,

Yep, I just need to fill in the “by defendant” part of the Seymour plan which I will do in just a few. I’m fine with Sally Cimini and I’ll make whatever dates work, since we’re Zooming these days instead of doing things in person (which I am NOT complaining about). Let’s go with ENE just to be safe? We can always ask that it be switched to a mediation session. I just don’t know if I’m going to get monetary settlement authority in any of these because I don’t know what PRA’s position is going to be, so I don’t want to commit to mediation and then turn out to have no money. That would be a dick move by me and I try really hard not to be a dick.

Okay, I'm happy to have a quick phone call to discuss what's going on here, it's a little different than the AIM credit disputes that we mediated last time.
